Project Description (Proposed actions, location, and/or consequences).

The proposed project would implement Program HE-1 of the adopted Housing Element. Program HE-1 is a rezoning program to accommodate the need for low and very-low income households as required by the State's Regional Housing Needs Assessment (RHNA) allocation for the County. The Placer County Housing Element 2021-2029 includes an inventory of properties identified as candidate sites for a potential rezone program. The County is creating a new zoning district called Residential Multifamily 30 (RM30) to plan for potential sites to accommodate the RHNA calculations of units that would be suitable for low and very-low income units. The RM30 zone district would require residential development at a minimum density of 20 units per acre and a maximum density of 30 units per acre.

Identify the project's significant or potentially significant effects and briefly describe any proposed mitigation measures that would reduce or avoid that effect.

Air Quality, Cultural, Tribal, Biological, Wilfire, Noise, Public Services, Hazards and Hazardous Material, Traffic and Transportation, GHG.
