PROJECT LOCATION: City of Sacramento, California

PROJECT DESCRIPTION: Perform a limited number of maintenance repairs to the Boiler Shop at the Historic Sacramento Railyards to facilitate its continued use for railroad car restorations as part of the California State Railroad Museum. The project scope includes:

- Installation of a new roof and structural repairs necessary to support the new roof. The new roof will be placed over the existing roof where present and in stable condition. All deteriorated material will be replaced in kind to comply with the Secretary of the Interior standards for historical structures. Asbestos containing material within the stable roof will be encapsulated by the new material. Where roof material is deteriorated beyond use, the asbestos containing material will be removed from the roof and disposed of in an approved/certified landfill;
- Performing electrical distribution system repairs to ensure a safe working environment. Electrical repairs include replacement of blown transformer links; disconnect switches and a 225A distribution panel, and;
- Replacing the existing fire alarm system and test and replace the existing fire suppression system where necessary.

An EIR was prepared for the project that included the subject building on the "Railyards" site, and which identified no significant and unavoidable effects related to use of the buildings for the Rail Technology Museum.
