In accordance with the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) (Public Resources Code §21000 et seq.), the CEQA Guidelines (Title 14 Code of Regulations Section 15000 et seq.), and the Dublin CEQA Guidelines & Procedures, the City as Lead Agency prepared an Initial Study for the above-named project to determine if the project has the potential to cause significant environmental impacts. Based on the Initial Study, the City prepared a Negative Declaration finding that the project does not have the potential for significant environmental impacts.

Project Description

The City of Dublin Climate Action Plan 2030 and Beyond (CAP 2030) establishes goals to reduce communitywide greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions to 40% below 1990 levels by 2030 to align with Senate Bill 32 and to set the City on the path to achieve carbon neutrality by 2045 to align with Executive Order B-55-18. Specific strategies to achieve the 2030 GHG emissions reduction goal and begin actions to achieve carbon neutrality by 2045 are identified in the areas of carbon free and renewable electricity, energy efficiency and electrification, sustainable mobility and land use, and materials and waste management.
