The adoption of the 2021-29 Housing Element is covered by the general rule that CEQA applies only to projects which have the potential for causing a significant effect on the environment. Where it can be seen with certainty that there is no possibility that the activity in question may have a significant effect on the environment, the activity is not subject to CEQA. The 2021-2029 Housing Element makes minor changes to the current Housing Element, which constitutes a project under CEQA. None of these changes have the potential to adversely affect the physical environment, as they merely require adherence to requirements necessary to bring the Housing Element to conformance to state law. All other portions of the Housing Element would not result in changes to the physical environment, but rather reflect the current Housing Element provisions. As such, the current step of adopting and updating the 2021-29 Housing Element and is exempt under the "common sense" exemption as stated in the CEQA Guidelines section 15061(b)(3)
