Reasons why project is exempt:

The City Public Works Building Project was assessed for compliance with the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA). CEQA does not apply to this project due to the ministerial nature of the project. A ministerial project is one that requires conformance with a fixed standard or code and requires no judgement by a public body or official. In this case, the project must only comply to the 2022 California Building Code and does not require a public official to exercise independent judgement. Therefore, there is no environmental review required for the City Public Works Building Project under CEQA.
